

328,749

Abstract

An article of footwear includes a torsion system constructed of a material and configured to allow, in a pre-selected manner, rotation of a forefoot portion of the article of footwear relative to a rearfoot portion of the article of footwear about a longitudinal axis of the article while 5 substantially precluding bending in an intermediate portion thereof.

666090" 64282E60

FORCIER257/9.804885 -1